SPOILED STUDENTS ? HELPLESS TEACHERS ?

International Comparative Seminar on University Education

Let's talk about contemporary students and teachers and their mutual relations. Are students really spoiled today and lecturers helpless? Or maybe it's the other way around? Or maybe something completely different? We have a great opportunity to hear about what it's like in Portugal (prof. Margarida Pocinho), what it's like in Italy (dr Giulia Conti), what it's like in Turkey and the USA (dr hab. Sinan Tankut Guhlan). Dr. Dorota Bazuń will propose an introduction to the discussion inspired by Jonathan Haidt's latest book, and prof. Mariusz Kwiatkowski will summarize the discussion. We are curious about your opinion. We cordially invite you!
